

ABSTRACT

[0041] Disclosed is a cable holding device particularly for an electrical cable in motor vehicles. Said cable holding device comprises a circumferential element fixing the cable and a base locking the cable holding device in an opening of a motor vehicle door or similar. The circumferential element can be closed in order to fully encompass the cable.